

November is National Novel Writing Month.

Founded in 1999, the fiction-writing extravaganza encourages everyone in the world to spend November bashing out a 50,000-word novel. Not for fame or fortune. But because it's monkey-barrels of fun.

We're proud to support local writers taking the plunge by offering our space as a noveling zone. Bring a pen and paper or laptop and make yourself comfortable.

And if the sight of all these overcaffeinated creative types gets you thinking that maybe it's time you got started on your novel, well...it probably is. Come on in! We've got your writing table ready.

For more info about National Novel Writing Month, visit NaNoWriMo.org.

